Commissioner Martin:

Dear Chairma Powell and Commissioners,

You have been destroying our youth by allowing them to watch such garbage at Prime Time and games. There needs to be greater restrictions and Much , Much greater fines...You will find that if the fine outweighs their profits, there will be a great turnaround. Their profilts will go to the government and the government can cut down in taxes. And you will be rescuing the youth. Most adults don't like looking at that junk while channel-surfing.

Sincerely,
Nancy Goettman

Sincerely,

Nancy `Goettman

Chairman Powell:

We have been disgusted for some years now with the level of violence and gratuitous sex (and "Christian bashing" for that matter - not that you control that, though) that has been tolerated by the FCC. In fact, we are no longer able to watch most of the programs because of this. But we do worry about the children whose parent(s) are either unaware or uncaring of what their children are watching. And we also worry about the society we must be part of, as the effects of continuous violence and crude sex affect a large segment of our population. These young people who are becoming more and more hardened to compassion, caring, dignity, and respect of fellow man - these are the same people who will be our doctors, lawyers, bankers, teachers, etc. - do you want to be dependent on them?

Sincerely,

M/M T Peacock

Commissioner Copps:

Dear Sir or Madam,
I just wanted to share my thoughts with you on TV. To make this short & sweet, my main point is that I strongly believe that TV is overloaded with violence (and sexual images) and I feel this is a terrible situation for any child who watches. It seems there is very little censorship anymore of what goes on..it's almost as if anything goes. Furthermore it seems that we are just numbing kids to the violence and they are no longer shocked or disturbed by "terrible acts". I feel this is a definite factor in the number of crimes being committed today and the loss of respect for human life. Today's climate is anything goes (gay lifestyles, deviant behavior, etc.). Anything considered traditional (Christian beliefs, families with caring mothers/fathers, etc.) are just one possibility among many. I don't mean to get off track, but I truly want to see less imagery of violence and sex on TV. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Bill Kegley

As a grandparent of young children, I'm appalled at the amount of violence on T.V. Try as we may to controll what our grandchildren are viewing when they are visiting us, it's nearly impossible to NOT view soimoe kind of violence, because even the comercials advertising programs, such as CSI, are disturbing. We cannot controll the commercial break violence, so "just change the channel" rhetoric doesn't work anymore. It's past time the FCC did something constructive to controll violent programming.
